PREFACE.

No apology is necessary in presenting this work. It was compiled and written for the benefit of those members of the Stephens family who are interested in their ancestry; others who care nothing for their genealogy will probably not trouble themselves to read the book, and if they should examine it, will no doubt discover errors and omissions, as it has been impossible for the compiler to visit personally every correspondent to verify and complete each record; and from so many sources of information some must necessarily be inaccurate.

The method of arranging and numbering the names has been adopted as the simplest for reference, and at the same time will allow additional facts to be published in succeeding volumes, without interfering with the present enumeration.

Nothing definite has been learned concerning the ancestry of Peter Stephens, and he has therefore been numbered (1) as being the head of the family; the succeeding numbers have been given as names were received. While several branches of the family of Peter Stephens are missing, yet the early county records of Frederick County, Virginia, contain numerous accounts of transactions, etc., of members of the family. These records are now being searched carefully and the results will be contained in succeeding volumes.

In regard to the nationality of Peter Stephens (1) there seems to be some doubt. According to Kercheval, he was probably a German, though others claim that he was of English or Welsh descent. Authorities in York, Reading and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, have been written to and the archives searched, but nothing was discovered relating to him.

This work, although intended primarily as a record of the Stephens family, will also include any or all collateral branches whose genealogy can be obtained, especially when tracing back their ancestry over one hundred years. This, while bringing in casually other families, they are properly included in a history of the Stephens family.

This record is certainly not as complete as it would be in a year or two, neither will it be as complete then as in five or ten years.

Probably no one would wish to wait ten years for it, yet a number of correspondents have advised delaying publication until the entire history of the family could be obtained. Desirable as this would be, it is practically impossible, and the more so because these same correspondents are the very ones who wait from three to twelve months before replying to a letter asking for information. To wait for all would leave the final publication for our grandchildren.

It has therefore been found advisable to publish the data already obtained, and as new facts are learned and other branches of the family heard from, new volumes will be issued. And furthermore, facts once published are not so liable to be forgotten as if the memory alone of hundreds of individuals was depended upon to retain their knowledge.

While we cannot say positively that our ancestors were in any way celebrated, yet their names are not entirely unknown in history, and we may certainly not be ashamed of them.

Nearly all who were of age in 1776 were soldiers of the Revolution, and there were many hardy pioneers among them. Peter Stephens (1) was among the first to settle in the Shenandoah Valley, in Virginia, and founded the town of Stephensburg. His son Peter (4) penetrated further up the same valley to Wythe County, Virginia. His grandsons, Joseph (7), William (8) and Joseph Lawrence (16) were among the pioneers of Kentucky. John (19) in Tennessee and Ohio, and Joseph (7), mentioned above, was one of the first settlers in Cooper County, Missouri. In regard to later generations, as may be seen in the text, there have been, and still are, among them a number of prominent capitalists, politicians, lawyers, physicians and merchants, and without regard to occupation they are, as far as can be learned, honest, law abiding citizens.

It is but just to acknowledge our indebtedness for valuable information to Samuel Kercheval, in his " History of the Valley of Virginia"; to Henry C. Levens (345) and Nathaniel M. Drake in their "History of Cooper County, Missouri"; to Lawrence D. Stephens (252) of Woodland, California; to Thomas K. Cartmell, Clerk of County Court, Winchester, Frederick County, Virginia; and to B. A. Cecil Stephens of Los Angeles, California, Ex-Secretary of the Historical Society of Southern California. It may be stated here that Mr. B. A. Stephens is also compiling a record of his branch of the family, and though tracing his ancestry to early in the eighteenth century, when they settled in Berks County, Pennsylvania, we have as yet found no relationship.

We take this opportunity to thank all our correspondents for the interest they have shown and the general care they have taken in supplying local history.

THE AMERICAN GENEALOGICAL RECORD.

VOL. I.

THE STEPHENS FAMILY WITH COLLATERAL BRANCHES.

(1) PETER STEPHENS.

Was born (probably in Pennsylvania) about the year 1690 or 1700. Nothing has been found in regard to the history of Peter Stephens except in "A History of the Valley of Virginia" by Samuel Kercheval (Winchester, 1833), from which the following extracts have been taken:

Page 64:—In the year 1732, Joist Hite, with his family, and his sons-in-law, viz: George Bowman, Jacob Chrisman, and Paul Froman, with their families, Robert McKay, Robert Green, William Duff, PETER STEPHENS and several others, amounting in the whole to sixteen families, removed from Pennsylvania, cutting their road from York, and crossing the Cohongoruton,* about two miles above Harper's Ferry. Hite settled on Opequon, about five miles south of Winchester, on the great highway from Winchester to Staunton, now the residence of the highly respectable widow of the late Richard Peters Barton, Esq., and also the residence of Richard W. Barton, Esq.

PETER STEPHENS and several others settled at Stephensburg, and founded the town: Jacob Chrisman, at what is now called Chrisman's Spring, about two miles south of Stephensburg; Bowman on Cedar Creek, about six miles further south, and Froman on the same creek, eight or nine miles west of Bowman; Robert McKay settled on Crooked run, eight or nine miles south-east of Stephensburg. The several other families settled in the same neighborhood, wherever they could find wood and water most convenient. From the most authentic information which the author has been able to obtain, Hite and his party were the first immigrants who settled west of the Blue Ridge. They were, however, very soon followed by numerous others.

Page 71:—Lewis Stephens,† in the year 1756, built a stone house, the ruins of which are now to be seen at the old iron works of the late General Isaac Zane. It will hereafter be seen that these several stone buildings became of great importance to the people of the several neighborhoods as places of protection and security against the attacks of the Indians.

Page 133:—At the massacre of the people near White's Fort, one of Mrs. Thomas's daughters, when the people were preparing to go to the fort, was requested by Mrs. Clouser, to take a bottle of milk in her hand and carry it to the fort, when the Indians assailed them, this young woman concealed herself behind a tree and finally escaped. As soon as she could run off without being discovered, she started and ran eight or nine miles with the bottle of milk in her hand. She was met by two of the Fawcetts, near their residence; informed them of what had happened, and they forthwith removed their families to Stephen's fort. *

Page 240:—In the month of September, 1758, the town of Stephensburg, in the County of Frederick, was established. This town was first founded by Peter Stephens, who came to Virginia with Joist Hite, in the year 1732. The ruins of Stephens's first cabin are yet to be seen. Lewis Stephens, the late proprietor of the town, was the son of Peter Stephens. He laid out the town in form, and applied to the general assembly to have it established by law, which was done in the year 1758. This town was first settled almost exclusively by Germans, and the religion, habits and customs of their ancestors were preserved with great tenacity for many years. The German language was generally used in this village since the author's acquaintance with it, which acquaintance commenced in the year 1784.

Page 239:—Tradition relates that Fairfax was much more partial to Stephensburg than he was to Winchester, and used all his influence to make Stephensburg the seat of justice, but that Wood out-generaled his lordship, and by treating one of the justices with a bowl of toddy, secured his vote in favor of Winchester, which settled the question, and that Fairfax was so offended at the magistrate who thus sold his vote, that he never after spoke to him.

The following is the Will of Peter Stephens, now on record at Winchester, Va.:

PETER STEPHENS' WILL.

In the name of God, Amen: The twenty-eighth day of April, in the year of our Lord God one thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven, I, Peter Stephens, Senr., of Frederick County, in Virginia, yeoman, being sick and weak in body, but of perfect sound mind and memory, thanks be given to God, therefore calling unto mind the mortality of my body, and knowing it appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this, my Last Will and Testament, that is to say: Principally and first of all I give and recommend my soul into the hands of God that gave it, and for my body I commend it to the earth to be buried in a Christian and decent manner, at the discretion of my Executors, nothing doubting but at the general Resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God, and as Touching such Worldly Estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me

* Stephen's fort was at the spot where Zane's iron works were afterwards erected on Cedar Creek. Mr. Elisha Fawcett, a near neighbor of the author's, a highly respectable and intelligent man, stated to the author that he had frequently heard his father and uncle speak of this occurrence.

LAWRENCE STEPHENS' WILL.

In the name of God, amen: I, Lawrence Stephens, of Frederick, County and Colony of Virginia, being well in body and of perfect mind and memory, Thanks be to God for the same. But calling to mind the uncertainty of this life, and that all men must die, do this tenth day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-three, make and publish this, my last will and testament in the manner following, that is to say—Inprimis. I commend my soul to Almighty God, and my body I commit to the earth, to be decently buried, by and at the discretion of my executrix and executors hereinafter named, and as for my worldly estate, I dispose thereof as followeth: That is to say, I do first appoint all my debts and funeral expenses to be paid out of my real and personal estate (that is to say), I desire and order that two tracts of land lying on the westerly side of Shenandoah river, on the drains of Crooked Run, in the County aforesaid, to be sold by my executrix and executors (to wit): One of said tracts containing 463 acres, appears by his lordship's deed, dated the 3rd day of January, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and fifty-five; the other tract, containing 550 acres as appears by deed as aforesaid, dated the 27th day of July, 1772; also, two lots in the town of Stephensburg, formerly belonging to Frederick Shively; which tracts and lots I desire them to be sold by my executrix and executors within six months after my decease. In case the above tract doth discharge all my lawful debts, I will, and order that none of my personal estate shall be sold, and if the said tracts and lots (when sold) do sell for more than what will discharge my debts, I desire that it may be divided amongst the under named legatees. Item, I give to my wife all my movable estate and household furniture, together with the plantation which joins the town of Stephensburg, containing 225 acres, for, and during the time and term of nine whole years from my decease; it being for and in

The third part of said place exempted for the use of my wife during her natural life, also one of the Negroes, either male or female kind, which she sees cause to choose, which Negro I leave her to dispose of as she pleases, and what Negroes I now have with their increase, I will and desire they may be sold by my Executrix and Executors, at the expiration of the above term of nine years, the amount of which sales are to be equally divided amongst my sons Peter, John, Jacob, Isaac, Joseph Lawrence and Bryan Martin, also a tract of land lying and being in the county aforesaid near the Sugar Hill, with all its tenements and appurtenances, unto the above named Legatees. Item, I give and devise to my said wife the house which I now live in with all the lots, outhouses and buildings thereon, erected and built, also Carver's lot, during her natural life, and at the expiration of her natural life, I desire the same may be sold and the amount of the same to be divided between my sons Jacob, Isaac, Joseph Lawrence and Bryan Martin. * The authority for this had given the apparent exact genealogy, father's name included, but just as the type was set up and ready for print, a contrary statement was received, and it is uncertain whether his father was a son of Peter Stephens (4) or a son of one of the brothers of Peter Stephens.

His dwelling was built partly from material, bricks, etc., brought from Virginia, and partly from boards obtained from timber in the locality. These boards were all made by his negro slaves with a large rip-saw, one negro at each end of the saw. The building is still standing at Ruddell's Mills. His wife died 5 August, 1791, and on 12 January, 1792, he married Lucy Garrard (18), a niece of Gov. James Garrard, of Kentucky. He was a soldier in the revolutionary war. (See Collins' History of Kentucky, Vol. I, p. 6). Died, April, 1848, in Ruddell's Mills, Kentucky.

He first opened a jewelry store, but not liking this, soon gave it up and entered into the mercantile business (Dry Goods, etc.) After a few years his store was burned, proving almost a total loss. Not discouraged however, he immediately started again in the same line of business, in conjunction with a hemp and rope factory, doing extensive trading with the South. He brought his goods from Philadelphia by boats down the Ohio river to Maysville and thence to Paris in wagons, usually taking six or eight weeks for the round trip. Through the dishonesty of his associates he failed in this venture, and then, about 1858, embarked in the Grocery and General Merchandise business with his son Charles (43), remaining there until his death. He died in Paris, Kentucky, 2 April, 1885.

His parents moved to Sullivan County, Tennessee, about the year 1804. The following year, William D., at the Methodist Conference at that place (Bishop Asbury presiding), joined that church and afterward became a local Methodist preacher.

In 1809, he moved with his parents to Preble County, Ohio, then an exposed frontier. He was living there in 1812 at the commencement of the war with Great Britain. He served as a volunteer in two or three military tours against the Indians previous to 13 September, 1813, when he was drafted into the army for six months, and served for that time under command of General William H. Harrison (afterwards President). The exposure to cold, hunger, etc., on this occasion, impaired his health so that he did not recover it for several years. During his military service he was generally (if not always) acting in the capacity of a scout.

He was married 24 October, 1815, to Mary Starrit De Freese (152), of Miami County, Ohio. They settled and opened a farm in Preble County, Ohio, on the "West Road," a few miles from Eaton, afterwards moving to that place, where he was instrumental in building the Methodist church. On 1 March, 1836, he started to Texas, but was deterred by the invasion of that province by Santa Ana, so he settled in Natchitoches Parish, La. (in what is now Sabine Parish) He afterwards held some Parish offices, etc., and in 1845, represented Sabine Parish in the Constitutional Convention of the State.

Soon after his arrival in Sabine Parish he obtained congenial employment as a carpenter and builder (his trade), and superintended the building of Fort Jessup, the headquarters of the American army under General Zachary Taylor, afterwards President. At Fort Jessup he gained the friendship of that sturdy, old soldier, for after Taylor's election to the Presidency, he still held his former acquaintance (Uncle Billy) in kindly remembrance, and of his own accord, offered him a position under his administration. Not wishing to leave his home, however, he refused any position.

He died in Sabine Parish, La., 16 April, 1859.

(55) JAMES MADISON STEPHENS.

Son of Joseph Stephens (7) and Rhoda Cole (10). Born in Wayne County, Kentucky, 13 January, 1809. Moved to Missouri with his father in 1817. Was raised on a farm in Cooper County, Missouri. When twenty-one years of age his father gave him a farm, upon which he built a house and farmed, keeping bachelor's hall for several years. On 24 September, 1834, he married Mary Ann Adams (56), of the same county. They lived on the farm nearly fifty years. He engaged in farming and stock raising, and before the war of secession was quite wealthy. He owned some fifteen or more negro servants, all of whom were freed by proclamation of President Lincoln.

In politics he was a Whig, though never aspired to any political distinction, always refusing to seek or accept office when pressed by his friends.

He and his wife made several trips to California to visit their children, the most of them having moved to this State, but always called the old homestead in Missouri their home. They lived to see all of their children grown and married, except one. He died 3 November, 1882, in Bunceton, Missouri.

(68) JOHN DICKSON STEPHENS.

(Residence, Woodland, California.)

Son of Joseph Stephens (7) and Catherine Dickson (11). Born in Cooper County, Missouri, 23 September, 1826.

After finishing his education he taught a district school and read medicine. As a teacher he was a success and gained considerable notoriety among the pupils for obeying the scriptural injunction of "spare the rod and spoil the child," but he did not spare it. On the discovery of gold in California, he, with a great many of his neighbors started "the plains across" to seek his fortune in the mines. After mining successfully at Hangtown (now Placerville), for a short time, he moved to the Sacramento River, and took up a ranch. He soon sold out and bought his present ranch near Madison, consisting of six thousand five hundred acres, where his home was until he moved to Woodland. In November, 1853, he returned to Missouri by way of Panama, and on 5 January, 1854, was married to Miss Mary F. Alexander (born in Kentucky, 4 June, 1826). In the spring of 1854, they moved to California, crossing the plains in wagons and driving a large herd of cattle. In 1862, he went to Virginia City, Nevada, to try mining, but soon tired of that business and returned to Woodland. In 1869, with other capitalists, he organized the Bank of Woodland, and was elected President, which office he has been elected to annually ever since. In 1890, he bought the pleasure and health resort in Lake County, California, known as Highland Springs, at a cost of about one hundred thousand dollars. He and his brother George D. Stephens (69), have been partners in all their business transactions since their arrival in this State. He was once, in the fifties, elected supervisor of Yolo County, but with that exception has never held an office, but has often refused to run for office pressed to do so by his friends.

OBITUARY OF MRS. NANNIE L. (STEPHENS) MALONE.

Mrs. Nannie L. (Stephens) Malone, daughter of Harry and Elizabeth Stephens and wife of Rev. B. H. Malone, departed this life in Clarendon, Arkansas, July 8, 1891; born July 11, 1842.

When about nine years of age she professed faith in Christ and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South, in which she lived a consistent member until God took her up higher. Nannie was a brilliant, beautiful, amiable child. Her mother, a cultivated and refined lady, imparted to the daughter her own excellent character of culture and amiability. In her sixteenth year she was happily married to B. H. Malone, a teacher and minister of the Methodist Episcopal, Church, South. For nearly thirty years she was the faithful and cheery wife of a happy and devoted husband. She was affectionate, self-denying and thoughtful to promote the happiness of her husband and children. She made home so bright and happy that it was indeed a beautiful type of the heavenly home. Engaged in teaching, she was loved as a mother by her pupils. She was both magnetic and amiable, attracting all who met her and loved by all who knew her. She leaves two sons and four daughters, to all of whom she has transmitted a large share of her own peculiar culture and amiability. She was the best wife and the best of mothers. Her last words: "I am trusting all with the Lord, as I have done from the beginning." Message to absent loved ones: "Tell them I have a heart full of love for them all." She asked for the hymns, "Jesus, lover of my soul," etc., "Now, mark it."

We will ever cherish the memory of her many virtues, more brilliant and durable than diamonds.

[Signed] HER BEREAVED HUSBAND, B. H. MALONE,
August 27, 1891. Rector, Arkansas.

(134) HARRY STEPHENS MALONE.

(Residence, Martinez, Contra Costa County, California.)

Son of Rev. B. H. Malone (122) and Nannie Leonora Stephens (121). Born in Tuscumbia, Alabama, 4 July, 1863. He was born in Alabama, but at time of his birth, his parents were only visiting Alabama, being residents of Tennessee, and until 19 years of age thought himself a native Tennesseean. At an early age he displayed a love for country life, and was specially fond of farming. When 10 years of age, he made a "cotton crop," swapping work with an old negro who plowed Harry's cotton and Harry paid him in "chopping and hoeing cotton in return. His father tried to discourage his farming tendencies by making him turn over to him one-half of all he made. He only tried to make his half as large as the whole of the preceeding year. At sixteen and a half years of age, he began to teach at Waverly, Tennessee, by taking place of a teacher who was ill one morning. The teacher, instead of being ill for one hour or two, was unable to return for one month. He retained a place in the school for fifteen months, and was afterward principal. He resigned December, 1882, to go to Gardner, Tennessee. He was there for two years as principal, resigning for principalship of Boarding School at Pinson, Tennessee, After having resigned at Gardner, and going to Pinson, the Trustees, seeing how youthful he was, tried to have him resign in favor of some older person, but the contract was made and he would not give way. For one week the opening was deferred, so that matters might be settled. He and his sister Elsie taught as associates for two years. She married and he remained one year longer, after which he was re-elected, receiving on first ballot over five competitors, fifteen votes, being the total cast at a meeting of Stockholders and Trustees of the school. He had made no application and when the position was tendered him for three years, he declined it and went west, remaining in Kansas City for about a half year. From there he went to Dallas, Texas, where, for one and a half years he was engaged in publishing the Texas Land and Immigrational Journal. This enterprise proved a great financial success for the whole of its existence, which was until the interests of different sections of the State began to show sectional prejudice. The Official Organ of the State Immigration Association, of Texas, fell with the Association, and Malone found himself deep in debt, about three thousand dollars. Shortly afterward he went to Old Mexico, and afterward returned to Texas; made a second visit to the City of Mexico, and in October, 1888, went to San Francisco, California, landing there October 17, on the Steamer Santa Rosa, with fifty-five cents. He, that day at 10 o'clock, began to solicit for book sellers as a "book agent." He continued for several months at this business. He then began work as Life insurance Solicitor, in which business he is still engaged. He now has at Martinez, an office which is a credit both to himself and the New York Life Insurance Company which he represents.

Will be married 12 October, 1892, this date being the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus.

(160) ELIJAH CLARK.

(Residence, 2241 Central Avenue, Alameda, California).

Son of Elijah Clark (159) and Mary Hamilton. Born in Milton (now Orneville), Maine, 4 May, 1832.

When four years old he went to Maumee City, Ohio, with his parents, where he resided until about eighteen years of age, when he went to Paris, Kentucky, and entered the jewelry business. While here he met Ella Lou Stephens (41) and was married to her 30 January, 1854. They soon moved to Lexington Kentucky, where Mr. Clark at once became the most prominent jeweler of the city. In 1865, he sold out his profitable business and invested a portion of the proceeds, $20,000, in building a river steamboat, the "Thomas Powell." He then went to the South and had fair prospects of making considerable money, transporting cotton and other freight, on the lower Mississippi and tributaries when, owing to the scarcity of boats at the close of the late war, it was seized by the United States Government (Stephen Burbridge, commanding), and used to convey troops to various points. When the vessel was returned to Mr. Clark's hands it was so greatly damaged that it was sold for a trifle. He then went to Louisville, Kentucky, and started again in the jewelry business. In 1870, he invented an "Automatic Electrical Steam Gauge," which he patented and the Government ordered one on every steam vessel in the United States. A company was organized for their manufacture, and considerable money was made, but as usual in these cases, the company kept the money and the inventor got nothing. He shortly afterwards invented and patented an electrical clock (about 1872), and in 1885 (24 November), patented a "Micrometer Gauge," an instrument that can be found on every watchmaker's table. He is now located at 120 Sutter street, San Francisco, California, where he continues his business of watchmaker and jeweler.

leaving Edward (and his brother Carlton) with his grandfather, Joseph Stephens (29), in Paris, Kentucky, where he received a common school education. When only a boy he became interested in the natural sciences, especially chemistry, and devoted most of his spare time to the study of these. When seventeen years of age he began the study of medicine, and in 1874 attended his first course of lectures at the Hospital College of Medicine in Louisville, Kentucky. After the close of lectures, he became interested in the study of geology and palaeontology, and in the following six years, during his leisure hours, he collected throughout Indiana and Kentucky specimens numbering upwards of 10,000, which he has now deposited in the California Academy of Sciences, San Francisco.

In 1875 he taught a country school for one session, and after this he entered the drug business, in which he continued off and on until 1879, when he finished his medical education and graduated from the Hospital College of Medicine, 26 February, 1880. He practiced in Louisville for about a year, and then temporarily engaged in railroad surveying, accepting the position of Chief Engineer of the M. F. L. & D. Ry.; he surveyed and located this road, and assisted in the location of several other railroads in Indiana and Kentucky.

In April, 1884, he went to California on a visit, remaining for several months, visiting the gold mines, among other places of interest. He paid some attention to mining methods, and on his return home invented and applied for a patent on an improved amalgamator, which he tried in the Georgia mines and proving successful here, he made another trip to California the following year to place his machines there, having formed a company for their manufacture. He abandoned this business, however, not being able to agree with the company as to location of machines.

In 1886 he entered the laboratory of Redington & Co., as chemist. He followed this for about a year and then resumed practice of his profession. Is now located at 16 Geary street, San Francisco, California, as a specialist in the treatment of eye, ear, nose and throat diseases.

Dr. Clark is a member of the County and State Medical Societies, The San Francisco Microscopical Society, The San Francisco Bacteriological Society, The San Francisco Polyclinic, where he has entire charge of the Aural Clinic, The Astronomi-

(252) LAWRENCE D. STEPHENS.

(Residence, Woodland, California.)

Son of James M. Stephens (55) and Mary Ann Adams (56). Born in Bunceton, Cooper County, Missouri, 30 June, 1835.

At the age of seventeen, after a great deal of coaxing and persuading, his parents consented for him to go to California, which was considered almost out of the world. They thought complete education better than a rich miner, but finally yielded, and fitted out an ox team for the trip overland, and with three other young men, on April 11th, 1852, with bright hopes they started by land for California, and arrived in Yolo County about August 10th. Here he was employed by his uncle, John Adams, to work on a farm for twelve months. The next year he tried farming on his own account, and after that bought some cattle and sheep and tried stock raising with more or less success until 1865. Then tried mining one year near Grass Valley, but that not proving a success, returned to Yolo County and went into farming. In 1874, moved to Woodland and took charge of the Grangers' warehouse which was owned by a large number of farmers, and for two years managed the business. Was one of the subscribers to the capital stock of the Bank of Woodland when organized in 1869, and was elected a director of the bank, which office he has held ever since. Was married to Miss Alice E. Hunt (253), of Woodland, 10 May, 1876, and they made a trip to the Eastern States, taking in the Centennial and most of the large cities. After returning home he entered largely into buying wheat, in partnership with Mr. J. H. Harlan, and continued in that business until 1882, when he was prevailed upon to accept a position as a salaried officer in the Bank of Woodland. Is still interested in farming and stock raising with his brother, J. J., and J. H. Harlan, in Fresno County, and with his brother in Yolo County.

At the age of sixteen he entered the Fair Haven High School, Ohio, where he remained for two scholastic terms studying the classics and higher mathematics, continuing his course of studies the next year under the Rev. William Park at Beech Grove Academy. In November, 1849, he made a trip to Ruddell's Mills, Bourbon County, Kentucky, on business, expecting to return again to his school, but was taken sick with typhoid fever and in the following spring found himself a physical wreck and without means to pay his debts and return to his class.

He then obtained a teacher's certificate and soon secured a six months school, after the close of which attended Nourse's Academy in Millersburg, Kentucky, afterwards staying in Dr. W. P. Savage's drug store for a few months, where he began the study of medicine. He then taught school another six months, and afterwards attended Georgetown College, devoting his time principally to Latin and Greek. After this time continued to teach school and study medicine until October, 1854, when he went to Cleveland, Ohio, and matriculated at the Western Reserve Medical College. A few weeks afterwards there was a call made by Dr. Cleveland, the city physician, for an assistant physician and druggist to reside at the City Hospital. Young Stephens was the successful candidate, securing both positions with the privilege of attending a sufficient number of lectures to enable him to retain his standing in the class. Here he remained until the first of March, 1856, when the Medical Faculty conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

Resigning his position as assistant City physician and apothecary, he returned to Kentucky, spending most of his time at Frankfort and Ruddell's Mills. He married 28 August, 1856, Margaret Jane Thomas, of Bourbon County, Kentucky, and moved to Clay County, Missouri, in March, 1857, where he immediately entered into a lucrative practice, remaining until his business was seriously affected by the late rebellion, when he removed to his present home in Sidney, Iowa (13 August, 1864). He obtained at once a large practice, and the following year opened up a drug store which he conducted for fifteen years in conjunction with his practice.

Since he commenced the practice of medicine he has attended lectures at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, the Bellevue Hospital Medical College, and received the ad eundem degree from the Medical Department of the Western Reserve University.

He has written a great deal on the subject of medicine and the collateral sciences, and is now a paid contributor to some of the leading medical journals.

Among the original articles written or reported by him, may be mentioned the following:—

"Spontaneous paracentesis abdominis, recovery," Medical World Philadelphia, 1888.

Notwithstanding the doctor has always had a physical ailment, besides another added ten years ago, and his avocations being arduous, he is remarkably well preserved for one of his years. Is politically a Democrat of the temperance type, strongly favoring prohibition, religiously a Presbyterian, never played a game of cards, never danced a set, nor defiles himself with tobacco.

On 13 March, 1879, he was married to Mrs. Mary C. Copeland, of Fremont County, Iowa, who died 14 May following.

On 6 September, 1881, when on his way to visit some patients he collided with a cyclone, and was taken with buggy and team into the air, being dashed to the ground. He received severe injuries which kept him from work for several months.

(323) JOSEPH JOSIAH STEPHENS.

(Residence, Woodland, California.)

Son of James Madison Stephens (55) and Mary Ann Adams (56). Born in Bunceton, Missouri, 25 October, 1836. Was educated in the district schools of the place of his birth, living on the old homestead until eighteen years of age, when he left the home of his parents in 1854 to visit the land of gold. He came to California and engaged in the sheep business, remaining in the Sacramento Valley two years. He then returned to Missouri and on 21 January, 1857, was married to Elizabeth Davis (332), and with his young wife, then but eighteen years of age, they started on their weary wedding tour to California. In company with a number of others they brought a herd of cattle across the plains, landed safely in Yolo County in the fall of the same year, and ever since, this has been their home. About this time a joint partnership was formed with his brother, L. D. Stephens (252), which is still unbroken, and together they have accumulated quite a comfortable fortune, consisting mostly of land, having twenty-seven hundred acres, situated in Yolo and Fresno Counties. It is all under cultivation in a high degree and very valuable. They are also large owners in the Woodland Bank and other smaller properties. The subject of this sketch quit his active farm life about twelve years ago and assumed control of the Madison Warehouse Company, located at Madison and Esparto, in which he owns a large interest. He has raised a family of three sons and three daughters, all of whom are grown and married, except the two younger daughters, who are still at home. Mr. Stephens moved from his farm home to Woodland in the year 1890, where they still reside on Cross street. He is, at this writing, in perfect health, weighing two hundred and twenty pounds and apparently good for many more years' active life. He takes a great deal of interest in politics, but has never accepted any honors in that line, though they have been repeatedly offered him. He prefers freedom from political thraldom, and is looked upon as one of the solid men of Yolo County, an honor he has fairly won by his past life and successes.

(391) CHARLES A. STEPHENS.

(Residence, Fresno County, California.)

Son of Joseph J. Stephens (323) and Elizabeth Davis (332). Born in Yolo County, California, 26 January, 1863.

He attended the county school until seventeen years of age, at which time he entered Hesperian College, Woodland, California, from which institution he graduated in 1883. He then followed the vocation of farming for two or three years, after which he moved to Modoc County, and engaged in the general merchandise business for a few years. The great boom in Fresno City had its attractions for thousands of people, and at this time he closed out his Modoc business and located in Fresno City. During the times of the boom he followed the lucrative business of a real estate dealer in a manner very much to his financial interest. Just at the close of the activity in real estate circles, he invested in a farm near Fresno City, which has been his home until recently, when he assumed the management of the Harlan & Stephens tract of land of little less than three thousand acres, also in Fresno County. At present, his home is on this place, though he still retains possession and control of his own place, which is but a few miles distant. He is a thorough business man; of small stature, brown hair, blue eyes and weighs about one hundred and forty pounds; belongs to the sanguine temperament, and bids fair to stand foremost among men. He was married 25 August, 1889, to Katie N. Wilson (393), at which time they settled on their farm home in Fresno County. They have no children.

(393) KATIE NELLIE WILSON.

(Residence, Fresno, California.)

Daughter of Henry William Wilson and Josephine Rucker. Born in Helena, Montana, 3 October, 1867. Her father died when she was three months old and her mother married again to D. Wildy while she was a mere babe. She was then christened under the name of Katie Wildy in the M. E. Church South. She went by this name until she was grown to womanhood and married. At the age of nine years she was taken by her only brother and placed in the Catholic convent at Ashland, Oregon, where she was a hard student for four and one-half years. The last year of which she was employed as teacher of art needle work. At this time her brother died, and being thrown on her own responsibility, she learned the millinery and dressmaking trades in order to be better prepared to cope with the world. She followed these trades in connection with her art needle work until her marriage. When she came to California she was sixteen years of age and she opened an art and millinery store at Redding, Shasta County, and later one of the same kind at Madera, Fresno County. She has met and competed successfully with some of the most learned and advanced teachers in art needle work, many times having had some of them as her pupils, and always gained every prize she ever competed for with her work. She was married 25 August, 1889, to C. A. Stephens (391), after which they moved to their farm home near Fresno City, California. They still reside in this county, and though she has frequently been importuned to open an art store in Fresno she has not consented to change their present pleasant surroundings for the confining duties of such an undertaking.

Was educated in Yolo County public schools, mostly in Gordon district, afterwards finished with a college education at Hesperian College, Woodland, California. Graduated from that institution May, 1881. Spent some three years farming in Yolo County. He married Bettie Bean (451), 29 October, 1884, in Paris, Missouri, and moved directly to the farm home, in Yolo County, California. After two more years of farming, moved to Woodland, and embarked in the furniture and undertaking business. After two years in this successful venture, Daniel O. Bean and family moved to California, and the partnership of Stephens & Bean was formed, of which the subject of this sketch is the Stephens or senior member of the firm. Business still improved and grew until in the beginning of the year 1891, a branch house was opened in Fresno, of which L. O. Stephens assumed the management. It has now been in operation about seven months and at the present writing is on a firm financial basis and no longer an experiment.

She is well qualified for any position, having a bright mind, quick to think, a brilliant conversationalist and with her accomplishments in music, painting, etc., is able to grace any position in the most pleasing manner either in ordinary or aristocratic circles. (452) JOSEPH DANIEL STEPHENS.

(Residence, Fresno City, California.)

Son of Lewis Oliver Stephens (448) and Bettie Bean (451). Born in Woodland, California, 26 May, 1887. This bright little fellow, being the only grandson of two grandfathers, and both being desirous of honors, he was named for them both, "Joseph" "Daniel" Stephens. He is now four years old and wonderfully well developed for his age. He has a large fertile brain and his taste runs altogether to literary and mechanical lines, in both of which he takes deep interest and never tires having explained to him. Caution is well developed and he is seldom seen where there is the least danger to the physical man. Few things escape his observation and months after he can give a minute description of anything that he had seen in the past. He is very devoted to his parents and under no circumstances can any one make him say he loves one of them more than the other, even though he is punished by one of his parents, his answer is the same "I love mamma and papa." Not long since he was found on the street with a bundle of "old" papers under his arm saying "evening papers, 5c a piece," so his papa sent him customers by furnishing several bystanders with nickels; he was very proud of his money-making and put it in his bank to go to school with as he says, "when I get big." If nothing happens to mar his prospects and all goes well, he will be among some of the foremost men of the future.

Son of William Stephens (57) and Rowena Dever. Born in Wythe County, Virginia, 25 September, 1812.

He moved with his father (William Stephens) and grandfather Joseph Stephens (7), to Cooper County, Missouri (then Howard County). He remained in this locality until 1838, when he married Sarah M. Howard (542), and moved to the south line of Cooper County. He soon moved to Moniteau County, and in 1847, was elected Sheriff. Served in this capacity until 1850, when he resigned and organized a company of gold hunters. They crossed the plains to California, where he opened a provision store in Drytown. He remained only a short time and then returned to Cooper County, Missouri, by steamer to Isthmus of Panama, Cuba, New Orleans and up the Mississippi. He bought a farm in Cooper County, but sold it within a year and went to farming. Afterwards he went into the grocery and general merchandise business with his brother-in-law, Waid Howard, in the fall of 1858. He was very successful in this until the war broke out and swept away all his property, store, home and all. At this age (fifty-three), he again hooked up his ox teams and took his entire family (except one son who was in the army), and started gold hunting, locating first at Boise City, Idaho, 16 August, 1864, and two months later at Idaho City, where nearly all his family

(Residence, 514 East Green Street, Clinton, Missouri.)

Son of Philip D. Stephens (541) and Sarah M. Howard (542). Born in Cooper County, Missouri, 15 March, 1842. Was raised on farm till fourteen years old, when his father engaged in merchandising and used him as a clerk. When a boy he was master of natural philosophy; nothing pleased him more than to see a storm and watch the freaks of the electricity. Spent his early days at and near Tipton, Missouri, and California, Missouri. Has a warm place in heart for his friends. He was educated at the common County schools and academies. Was a Union soldier during the war, and was in the battles before Nashville, Tennessee, in 1864. On December 16 and 17, was in Bank's famous Red River Expedition.

He has always been an uncompromising Democrat, until the tariff became an issue when he voted with the Republicans. He is the inventor of a number of useful inventions, prominent among which is the Stephens saddle bags and buggy case for physicians, which are so widely known in the United States, Canada and South America. This industry is carried on and is known as Stephens-Weller Saddle Bag Company, 613 Main

(Residence, Boonville, Missouri.)

Son of Philip D. Stephens (541) and Sarah M. Howard (542). Born in Cooper County, Missouri, 7 November, 1844. He worked on a farm until 1856, when his father took him in his store as a clerk, at Round Hill, Missouri. Here he remained one year, then attended school for a year, and then accepted a position as clerk in his uncle's store in Tipton, Missouri. He retained this position until 1864, when he went with his father to the Idaho gold fields. He vibrated between Idaho City and Oregon, sometimes freighting, sometimes mining, until 1868, when he returned to Missouri, and went to work for his cousin Col. Joseph L. Stephens (416), of Boonville. On 1 July, 1869, he married Mary E. Taliaferro, (549), and the next year moved to Moniteau County, where he began farming. He continued this in Howard County, the succeeding year, and in 1872, opened a merchandise store in Bunceton, Missouri. Here he remained until 1879, when he sold out and went to Kansas, and began wool growing. One year of this was enough, and in 1881, he returned to Boonville, Missouri, and entered into the hardware and implement business. His wife died 6 November, 1884, and he married again Sue C. Mitchell (550), 1 October, 1885. In 1890, was nominated as Democratic candidate for County Treasurer and elected by 616 majority.

(837) RICHARD B. BUTLER (392).

(Residence, Wildflower, Fresno County, California.)

Son of J. D. Butler. Born in Cleveland County, North Carolina, 17 May, 1846. Was educated in the public schools of Cherokee County, Alabama, to which place his parents moved when he was quite young. R. B. Butler was the oldest of ten children and at the age of sixteen, he entered the confederate cavalry, under the command of General Wheeler. He fought all through the war and carries some mementos of conflicts, in the form of wounds caused by the enemy's shot. After the war, young Butler remained at home for three years, after which time he went to Texas, bought a herd of cattle, and in company with H. B. Johnson, a present brother-in-law, drove them to California for sale. This was his first visit to the Pacific Coast. After a short tour of inspection, he returned to his old home in Alabama, and in the year 1871, moved to California, bringing with him the entire family. They settled in Yolo County, where Mr. Butler spent some time in the then lucrative business of farming. In 1875, he was employed as business manager for W. Levy, who conducted the largest general merchandise business in Yolo County. He was married in Yolo County, 18 November, 1879, to Mary Francis Stephens (390), and they immediately moved to Fresno County, where Mr. Butler had previously bought land and founded his home. Since that time he has been extensively engaged in stock raising and the raisin business. He has been connected with the irrigation system of Fresno County since its infancy, and has done much to further its development. He is President of the Fowler Switch Canal Company, which is the largest irrigation system in Fresno County. The people of Fresno County, complimented Mr. Butler by electing him to a seat on the County Board of Supervisors in 1890, which position he has filled with credit to himself and his constituents. In stature, Mr. Butler is of slender form, dark eyes and hair; weight about 150 pounds. He is in the prime of life; his health is good and promises to continue to a good old age, as did his father and grandfathers before him.

PREFACE

The following, copied from the preface of Volume I of this Record, will explain itself:—

"The method of arranging and numbering the names has been adopted as the simplest for reference, and at the same time will allow additional facts to be published in succeeding volumes without interfering with the present enumeration."

The numbers will continue consecutively through each succeeding volume, every name bearing a number for future reference, as: "Jonathan Robinson (842), son of John Robinson (841); Thomas Macy (851)," etc.

This Record commends itself to all the various patriotic and hereditary societies whose members trace their ancestry to those who participated in the Revolutionary War, and other important events of our country. Every successive generation, with its biography and portraiture, becoming an additional branch of the family tree, and by the addition of new names (with references to their ancestors published in preceding parts) it will be easy for any person to trace his ancestry through all the various branches, both male and female, of the earliest settler or immigrant to this country, or even to ancestors who resided in Europe; it therefore becomes indispensable, imperishable, and invaluable to every possessor.

(843) NOAH ROBINSON.

Noah Robinson enlisted as Private about May, 1775, in the Second New Hampshire Regiment, commanded by Colonel Enoch Poor; promoted to Corporal and Sergeant in 1775; Ensign and Second Lieutenant in 1776; First Lieutenant in 1777; Captain-Lieutenant in 1779. He was in the battle of Trenton, New Jersey, 26 December, 1776, where over nine hundred Hessians were made prisoners; in the battle of Princeton, New Jersey, 3 January, 1777; in the first battle at Saratoga, New York (no doubt intended for the first engagement at Stillwater, 15 September, 1777), where he was severely wounded and sent to the hospital. Being in the hospital several months, he sufficiently recovered so as to join his regiment. He was in the battle of Monmouth, New Jersey, 12 June, 1778, when he was so overcome by the prevailing excessive heat that his health was impaired to such a degree as to prevent labor without great pain. Upon the reorganization of the army, in 1781, he became a supernumerary, and returned home. Soon after return from the army, 1781, he married Nancy Wiggin (844), of Stratham, N. H. In 1782 he joined the privateer Bucannier as Commander of Marines, and made a cruise to the English Channel, which was very successful. About 1794 he moved from Stratham to Epping. In 1789–90 he settled in New Hampton and built the Homestead (see engraving) in the nineties. Died in New Hampton, N. H., 10 February, 1827.

prison-ship anchored in the harbor of St. John. He taught his fellow-prisoners navigation by chalking on the floor or deck; and when released from imprisonment, was one of a band of brave and determined Americans who refused to obey an order from British officers to drink to the health of King George. Captain Morris was, from first to last, an ardent and active patriot, and not only imperiled his life for his country, but suffered terrible hardships during the long term of imprisonment. Later, he was Captain of a merchant ship, sailing between New York and Europe. Naval Service, Vol. LX, p. 91, names John Morris of Nantucket as a seaman on the brigantine Lucy, Stephen Clay, Commander, on 31 May, 1780. Died 28 October, 1848.

(861) WILLIAM MITCHELL BUNKER.

(Residence, San Francisco, Cal.)

Son of Roland R. Bunker (860) and Julia A. Nye. Born in Nantucket, Mass., 6 November, 1849. Married Alice Booth, 20 September, 1877.

In 1863, Mr. Bunker, then thirteen years of age, went to San Francisco, and soon entered the service of the Bulletin, setting type, and at the same time writing letters for Eastern journals. For ten years he remained with the Bulletin, being at various times reporter, news editor, dramatic critic, and literary editor, but for most of the time he was city editor, a position he filled with signal ability. His willingness to undertake any duty assigned him, and his untiring zeal, rendered him a valuable member of the local staff, and once in pursuit of an item, he could be depended on to obtain it. Some of his best work was done in the Modoc War, when he surmounted many difficulties in getting his notes with news of the capture of Captain Jack to the Associated Press and the papers of which he was a regular correspondent, before the War Department courier got through.

A man of remarkable activity and of varied talents, he did not long remain in a subordinate position; and, in 1875, purchased the Daily Report property, and took charge of the editorial department, over which he has since presided with tact, energy, and ability.

Mr. Bunker is prominent in the Bohemian, Press, and Olympic Clubs, is active in all movements for the public good, is a contributor to the magazine literature of California, and is an interesting public speaker.

In 1890 Mr. Bunker was chairman of the Citizens' Relief Committee for Unemployed and directed the collection and disbursement of a fund of $30,000, which was used in building parks and roads in Golden Gate Park. In 1894 he was chairman of a similar committee which raised and disbursed $92,000 for the same purpose. In 1897 Mr. Bunker was chairman of a similar committee, which raised nearly $35,000 and built the famous Balboa Boulevard, and Mr. Bunker was also chairman of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, appointed by delegates from the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Trade, and the Manufacturers' and Pro-

(889) JOHN GRAY.

Son of John Gray (888) and Anne Hebbard. Born in Lebanon, Conn., 13 December, 1739. Considering himself neglected by his stepmother, he left home; he was met on the road by the pastor of the parish, Rev. Cotton Mather Smith, who took him (after hearing his story) to the Selectmen, who, with the consent of the father, bound him until of age to the pastor. He married Betsey (Elizabeth) Skeel, 16 November, 1763, who was born at New Milford, Conn., 15 December, 1745. He was a staunch patriot, and the public official records show he was chosen to the responsible position of member of Committee of Public Safety for King's District, 6 May, 1777, and served during that year. It is said of him that when the army was in need, he would slaughter and send to it his last bullock. When the advance of Burgoyne's army required more volunteers at the front, he promptly shouldered his musket and joined the ranks. He participated in the battle of Stillwater and the triumph of Saratoga. He took letters from the church at Sharon, and united with the church at New Concord; but having become a Restorationist, was separated from it, though still a vigorous Sabbatarian and one of the informing officers to see to the strict enforcement of the Sabbath laws. He died, 22 September, 1822.

still living are now residing. On the first day of March, 1850, he, with his entire family, consisting of his wife and eight children, left the town of Washington, Davis Co., Ind., with ox-teams for California. They crossed the State of Illinois, and camped at the town of Kansas in the latter part of March, where his daughter Urania and her husband, D. W. Cheesman (951), joined the party 7 April, 1850. On 15 May the party left Kansas for California, being in the midst of the great emigration of that year. On 14 June, Charles was seized with cholera, died, and was buried at Fort Kearney the same day. On 16 August they arrived at Salt Lake City, having lost twenty-one days out of the first fifty traveling days, by cholera in the train. They did not dare attempt to cross the Sierras on the northern route, by way of the Humboldt Desert, but re-outfitted at Salt Lake for the southern or Fremont route, and left that place 8 October, 1850; suffered innumerable hardships and privations en route by the lack of water and feed for the teams, which nearly all perished thereby. Arrived in San Francisco 7 February, 1851. Died in Los Angeles, Cal., 9 July, 1857.
